Lecture recordings

The Replay service is installed in 40 rooms on campus and is designed to capture presentation slides and audio. Your lecturer or department may choose to use the Replay service to provide you with a recording of a lecture.

If a lecture is scheduled to be recorded you will see the Replay logo on your Timetable. Recordings start at xx:04 and end at xx:57 on Hes West. Recordings start at xx:34 and end at xx:27 on Hes East. Your lecturer can let you know when you will be able to access recordings after the lectures.

Accessing recordings

Lecture recordings are usually made available through an EchoCenter. The EchoCenter brings together all the recordings for a module. The EchoCenter will be available through a Yorkshire VLE module site or a web link provided by your lecturer.

To view a recording:
1. Go to the EchoCenter.
2. Select the recording [A].
3. Click the Play button [B] to open the EchoPlayer or download via the Downloads links [C] if available.

Sharing and copying recordings is not permitted.

Using the EchoPlayer

The EchoPlayer lets you view the recording. You can pause, rewind, view full screen, and change the speed of playback [D].

Other tools are also available [E]:
- Use the Scenes app on the right to jump to sections of the recording.
- Use the Bookmarks app to make private revision notes on the recording.
- Use the Discussions app to post comments to other students. Staff may also access these comments.

Replay streams video. Avoid using other streaming services or downloading large files whilst watching Replay.

Advice

Replay is provided as a supplementary learning resource and is not a substitute for attending lectures.

We aim to provide a reliable service, however recordings can fail if unsupported equipment is used or microphones are not switched on. As lecture captures are supplementary resources, if a capture fails, the lecture will not be re-recorded. Recordings may also be edited or made unavailable, for example if they contain copyrighted content or sensitive material.

It is important to note that Replay does not capture what is written on chalkboards or whiteboards. Replay is also not designed to capture discussions you may have with your lecturer or working in groups with other students. However your voice may be recorded up when contributing in a session.

If you are new to using Replay, find out how other students use lecture captures to support their studies: www.york.ac.uk/replay/student-advice

Problem with Replay? vle-support@york.ac.uk • Provide feedback at http://bit.ly/replay-fb